On 14 August 1954, sheep were seen grazing on Mahlwinkel airfield and it was noted that the area had a very light grass cover.

Comment. According to available information, the ground at Mahlwinkel airfield has been in poor condition since the very beginning. The rumors which were circulating in January 1954 on intended reconditioning work during this year have not yet become a matter of fact. There is also no information available on the storage of runway mats. At present, it may be said that the field is apparently only suitable for light aircraft.
